Drop Case.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—1t de velops that the recent visit of former Judges Harmon and Judson, Special attorneys for the government in the Santa Fre case, resulted in a stormy session, with Attorpey-General Moody, and only the latter's piea and the absence of the President prevented the abrupt retirement of the two counsel from the case. It is known that there have been frequent consultations by the two attorneys and that in some way they received the impression that the Administration did not really intend an energelic prosecution. Things finally came to the pass that Messrs. Harmon and Judson formally drafted a course of action, which was drastic in the extreme.

The formulated programme was presented to Mr. Moody. It stated that as the Santa Fe officials had flagrantly continued the system of robates after they had been enjoined in court, no course remained for the government at once to institute proceedings in contempt, arrest the responsible heads of the company and prosecute them to the fullest extent. Mr. Moody argues for less drastic measures, but was informed that Messrs. Hirmon and Judson had presented their programme of recommendations as an ulfimatum, and if the Administration died not intend to prosecute thoroughly. The attorneys general urged that the absence of the company and the recommendations as an ulfimatum, and if the Administration died not intend to prosecute thoroughly. The attorneys general urged that the absence out in the resident of President Roosevet from his vacadion, and after much pleading, Messrs, Afgrmon' and Judson reluctantly consolited and left for their homes.
